I was runnin’ hard through the open plains,
Wind in my hair, but lost in my ways.
Thought I was free, thought I was strong,
But I was just chasin’ a life gone wrong.
Tired and restless, worn to the bone,
Knew in my heart I couldn’t ride alone.

Take the reins, Lord, guide my soul,
Lead me where only Your mercy goes.
I’ll lay down my pride, I’ll loosen my hold,
I don’t wanna run wild — I wanna be whole.
Take the reins, Lord, I’m ready to ride,
Where You lead, I’ll follow, right by Your side.

Felt Your whisper in the still of the breeze,
Heard Your call through the rustlin’ leaves.
A gentle touch, a quiet shift,
Turned my heart with a holy gift.
No more fightin’, no more fear,
I’m trustin’ You, Lord — I know You’re near.

Take the reins, Lord, guide my soul,
Lead me where only Your mercy goes.
I’ll lay down my pride, I’ll loosen my hold,
I don’t wanna run wild — I wanna be whole.
Take the reins, Lord, I’m ready to ride,
Where You lead, I’ll follow, right by Your side.

I don’t need You to shout,
I can feel Your hand now.
A nudge, a whisper, a shift in the air—
I know You’re right there.

Take the reins, Lord, guide my soul,
Lead me where only Your mercy goes.
I’ll lay down my pride, I’ll loosen my hold,
I don’t wanna run wild — I wanna be whole.
Take the reins, Lord, I’m ready to ride,
Where You lead, I’ll follow, right by Your side.
